

Liana Suarez

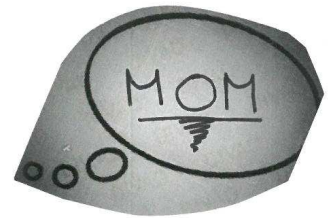

Liana Suarez came from Andorra.
She was almost seventeen.

She lived with her mother who was a nurse.
She used to give her a hand. They lived in good conditions.

Liana left Andorra because her mother had died
one year ago so she thought about her.
She wanted to try her luck in America.

During the journey, Liana was homesick and was a little seasick.
When she arrived in New York harbour, she cried
with joy when she saw the Statue of Liberty.

All the immigrants used to go through Ellis Island
at the time so Liana went there too and had to take various tests like answering a series of questions.

Today we don't know where Liana has ended up.

Maybe Liana found a job
as a nanny during a year to save up.

After that, Liana
must have settled
in Texas.

Perhaps she found a job in a ranch.
